

Troutner and Schultz Photography LLC

Photographic Release and Waiver

We are pleased that you chose Troutner & Schultz Photography to be your photographer. We are proud of our photography and would like to show images from your photography session to other customers and potential customers. Since we respect your family and your privacy, we are asking you to sign this release.

By signing below, on behalf of yourself and your family members shown in the images and listed below, you are giving Troutner & Schultz Photography, our affiliates, and agents permission to copy, use, or publish images from your photography session (as they may be altered or modified), in our photo studio displays, brochures, advertisements, websites, or any other marketing and promotional materials. We use release customer images to promote our photography and as examples of our work.

We do not sell your images to others. By giving permission to use the images, you waive any right to approve the images, product or copy and/or the use to which the images may be applied. You understand that this permission is irrevocable, and that we are relying upon your right to execute this release and waiver on the behalf of yourself and the family members listed below. You acknowledge that Troutner & Schultz Photography owns the copyright in the images.

By signing below, on behalf of yourself and your family members, you waive the right to prosecute or take any legal action against any of the employees of Troutner & Schultz Photography, Main Street Photo, or the owners of the property in which your photography session takes place in case of bodily harm or accidents that may occur.
